

Decorative Glass for Windows & Doors

Patterned Glass

Textured or patterned glass is used in situations where the requirement is to diffuse, not obscure, an object when viewing. One of its most common applications for this type of glass is bathroom windows. It can also be used for doors, shelves, leaded lights, shelves, interior partitions and screens.

Patterned glass is available in 4mm and 6mm thicknesses, the choice dependent upon the level of obscuration required.

Patterned glass can also be toughened to meet safety requirements. This would be dependent upon the location and use of the patterned glass.
